Exchange Brings Problems

It takes some fancy footwork – plus polite "excuse me's" to make the weekly exchange between chemistry students and physics students at Appomattox High School. With only one laboratory for the sciences, Mrs. Ivey Holland, physics instructor and Mr. John Hudson, chemistry instructor, "make do" by exchanging classrooms – and then laying out experiment materials and the like, Mrs. Holland's group comes from the first floor to th.. lab and Mr. Hudson's, from the second floor to the first. "It's quite a rush for a 45 minute instructor period", says Mrs. Holland. With a new senior high school each department could have classroom and laboratory space and more young men and women could be accomodated for these important studies.

Helping With The Harvest

Sharon and Al Woody think that October is a great time to help Grandmother and Grandfather with the harvest--in this case, a trailerload of yellow pumpkins, acorn squash and kershaws. Mr. and Mrs. F. P. O'Brien are the proud grandparents. Sharon and Al's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jim Woody, all of Appomattox.

Invite Artists To Exhibit

The Lynchburg Art Show will again sponsor the annual civic art show to be held at the club house, 1011 Rivermont Avenue. This year the opening date is November 1st. On this date, there will be an opening tea at the club house from three to five p.m. which will honor the exhibitors and is open to the public.

This show is held each year in memory of Georgia Morgan, whose dream it was to have an opportunity for all painters over 16 years of age, and who have lived in or are now living within a 50 mile radius of Lynchburg. There is no jury.

Each artist may submit 2 works which must be original and have been painted within the last 2 years. All mediator is acceptable. All work must be substantial framed or mounted. Sculpture, ceramic and metal work are desired if they are original. There is a charge of 50 cents for each article.

Please bring your works to the art club from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 29.

ATTEND MEETING PLANNED PARENTHOOD

The Planned Parenthood Association held a dinner meeting at the Glass Homestead, near Lynchburg, Tuesday night, Oct. 20.

Speaker was Mr. Dan Pellegrom, of New York City, director of the college program for population studies for Planned Parenthood.

He pointed out that it has taken all the years since man first inhabited the earth for the population to reach its present 3.5 billion persons. That figure will double in the next thirty years, giving us a world population of 7.5 billion in 1970. He spoke of family planning as a "total concern" for the entire family; dental care, finances, general health, etc. He was introduced by Miss Anne Pannell, professor at Sweet Briar College.

Executive director of the Lynchburg area Planned Parenthood Association is Mrs. Nancy Kissick (Walter).

Attending from Appomattox were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Atkinson, Mr. Atkinson is Appomattox county sanitarian. Also, the Rev. and Mrs. M. G. Stimpson.

Raiders' Men Of The Week

Dennis Wilkerson (left) and Ray Tweedy (right) win honors this week for their outstanding play in Friday's game against Amherst. Dennis, a junor, is Lineman of the Week. Line Coach Ronald Compton said "Dennis played a good, all-round game on defense", He didn't give up any yardage from his defensive end position and he gave leadership to the defensive team, said the coach. Dennis is the Raiders' punter and did an "outstanding job". Ray Tweedy ran 73 yards on intercepted pass in the 3rd quarter for the Raiders' second TD. This is his 2nd week to intercept for a TD – the same play earned a TD against Staunton River (37-7), the week before. As Back of the Week he gets dinner at Maude's and so does Dennis as Lineman of the Week, both meals compliments of the management. Jerry Robinson is head coach for the Raiders.

'Too Much Too Fast' In USA Says Abbitt

Petersburg – Representative Watkins M. Abbitt said Wednesday that over - selling on America's problems and possible solutions "is part of the frustration which is gripping our country today."

He blamed "far - fetched rhetoric" for arousing many Americans to expect more than their government is financially prepared to deliver and asserted that "unfulfilled promises are more dangerous than living behind the times."

Speaking to the Petersburg Lions Club, Abbitt said Americans need to realize that no major programs can be carried out without proper financing and said many proposals now before Congress will probably not see the light of day for years." Too much, too far has been a contributor to many of the country's ills today, the Congressman declared.

Abbitt said the government's bill for interest on the debt now runs to more than sixteen billion dollars annually and will go higher. He said those who speculate that "all the money being spent on the Vietnam war will go to fight pollution, clean up the inner cities and tackle other civilian problems" overlook that the war machine will not be cut off overnight, "I am afraid that too much of this talk is laying the foundation for difficulties in the years ahead", he said.

Crowded!

School board member, Dr. A. A. Fratrick on a recent tour of Appomattox County High School, was, of course, interested in the chemistry - physics department. He found (as in photo above) that nearly all of the equipment has to be packed into one closet, because the "laboratory" for chemistry and physics is actually a classroom for most of the day for other subjects with the result that all apparatus has to be taken out of the way. Solution to the problem? A new senior high school where each science would have adequate teaching and demonstration space.
